BERKSHIRE INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL
ANNOUNCES THE SCREENING OF THE BERKSHIRE SHORTS

Berkshire Shorts Will Kick-Off the Monthly Series at the Triplex

Great Barrington – Due to popular demand, the Berkshire International Film Festival (BIFF) announced the showing of the sold-out Berkshire Shorts that premiered during the film festival last May. The special showing on Sunday, November 5, will be the first in a series of films shown the first Sunday of every month at the Triplex Cinema.

The Berkshire Shorts include Mike Latino's "Trapping with Ernie," Ben Hillman's "Little Red Jiving Hood," Sanjiban's "Self-Arrest," and Mati Kiin's and David Eddy's "Product of Peru."

The films will be shown at 11: 00 a.m. and are free to the public. The filmmakers will be in attendance. For further information, please visit the website at www.biffma.com or www.thetriplex.com.

The next film in the series is "Off Road to Athens" the inspirational story of the US Olympic mountain biking team which won the Best Documentary Award at the Vail Film Festival in a field of over 1,000 entries. The film will be shown Sunday, December 3.
